

Rudolf Steiner Centre Toronto – Waldorf Teacher Education

An Investment in the Human Community

We are proud to play a vital role in the education of Waldorf teachers. As one of only two full-time programs in North America, we provide a level of excellence only possible through the direct human encounter between master teachers and students over the course of a full year.

Since 1984 more than 200 teachers have graduated from our teacher education program. These have joined the faculties of virtually every Waldorf school in Canada, and have also gone out to teach in Waldorf schools in a dozen other countries, including South Africa, Slovenia, Mexico, and Japan. Together, they have helped guide the healthy unfolding and character development of over 20,000 pupils who in turn have gone out to transform their world.

This is what the support from our friends and donors, along with grants from institutions, has made possible. If no one gave us a grant or a gift this year, the teacher education program would stop cold.

Our work addresses a deep hunger in the human soul, a longing for meaning in uncertain times. We believe that the good that flows out of the Waldorf teacher education program expands and multiplies in its impact on the world. In this way your investment in Waldorf education will bring great riches to the world.

Your tax-deductible donation will be received with gratitude.
